give hope Rolda

Pet Emergency Kit Checklist

Tick off each item as you pack it

We all need to be prepared for moments when there is immediate danger, and no time to think. Our priority is to make sure loved ones (including pets) are safe. ROLDA has created a guide to help you.

A well-stocked first aid kit means you can respond calmly in an emergency rather than searching for supplies. Store it in a clearly labelled container in an easily accessible location, out of reach of children. Check it every six months to replace expired items.

This checklist covers immediate-response/ first-aid supplies. A separate Grab & Go bag should contain 3 - 7 days of evacuation essentials

Keep two kits: one at home and a travel kit ready to take in the car.

EMERGENCY CONTACTS — KEEP IN BOTH KITS

Your Vet: _____ Ph: _____

24-Hr Emergency Clinic: _____ Ph: _____

Animal Poison Line: 01202 509 000

Keep an emergency contact list containing family, friends and your vet to reference.

WOUND CARE

- □ Absorbent gauze pads (sterile, non-stick)
- □ Gauze roll
- □ Conforming (crepe) bandage
- □ Adhesive tape (surgical)
- □ Cotton wool balls
- □ Sterile saline solution
- □ Blunt-ended scissors
- □ Protective gloves

MONITORING & INSPECTION

- □ Digital rectal thermometer
- □ Petroleum jelly (for thermometer)
- □ Pocket torch
- □ Syringes (needleless, for flushing)
- □ Tick remover tool
- □ Tweezers

RESTRAINT & TRANSPORT

- □ Muzzle (correct size) or fabric strips

Never muzzle an animal that is vomiting, unconscious, injured around the face, or having difficulty breathing. Ask your veterinarian to show you how and when to use a muzzle safely

- □ Thick towel or blanket
- □ Thermal blanket
- □ Secure carrier or crate
- □ Spare lead and collar

RECORDS

- □ Current medications list with dosages
- □ Copy of vaccination & health records
- □ Recent photo of your pet

OTHER ESSENTIALS

- □ Small bottle of drinking water
- □ Small packet of pet food/treats

NOTE For emergency preparation only. Seek veterinary advice before providing treatment. Never muzzle a pet that is vomiting or having difficulty breathing.